TextNow

TextNow is one of the most interesting alternatives to communicate with friends and family on the market. It allows you to get a phone line free of charge and so easy just by registering. It offers many benefits and even has subscriptions that also offer remote network coverage

The time has come for us to talk about one of the most interesting proposals in the great world of games and applications. Today we live in the era of communication, messages, voice calls, video connections, the exchange of GIFs and stickers, in short, of being connected to each other. That is why having access to a free app is so important. Yes, totally free of charge in messaging and calling.

We refer to TextNow, the tool that allows free connections available for mobile phones that have Android and iOS operating systems. You download it, install it, register, and have access to a personal number with which you can make free or low-cost calls to a large number of countries. You will also have access to your line on any of your devices. More than 60 million people already enjoy the service and their ratings are really outstanding, reaching almost 5 stars.

Using TextNow is very simple, you can give all your friends, family and contacts your personal phone number in just a matter of minutes. From there you can send and receive messages, make national and international calls with incredible rates.

Among the advantages of TextNow you can make the funniest emojis, stickers and GIFs. Do not stay out of the most popular way of communicating of the times. In addition you can also take, share and store images with the camera of your terminal.

We know that nowadays it is not the most common, but if they leave you a voice message you can receive a transcript in text mode of it. In addition, all your information can be protected with security codes as well as use and synchronize Google Smart Lock so that you do not have to remember passwords. If you want to give your personal touch to the information you send, you can add your personal signature.

Downloading TextNow will allow you to customize everything that has to do with the ringtone, the sound when receiving messages and the backgrounds on the conversation screens. Both at a general level and at each individual contact. It is always good that you give a personal touch to your mobile and favorite apps.

If you find yourself in trouble, you can make quick and predetermined responses to contact whoever called you later. Access this and many functions from the option of adding a Widget to your main screens. TextNow has no storage limits so you can save all the messages you want.

TextNow also offers the chance to connect through computers and continue the conversations you have on your mobile or tablet from a website that has all the information synchronized.

If you want to download TextNow it is free and you will have advertisements. In case you do not want to see the commercials, you can opt for the paid subscription and delete them. Prices start at $ 9.99 per month and go up to $ 49.99 with the option of adding remote internet connections. There are from 2GB to 23GB available.

The app is a service that emulates those of a telephone line but on a platform that you can use on all the devices you want. In addition to what has already been described, you can make groups of chats and videoconferences. It is undoubtedly a great option if you are looking for a service without paying and have no problem seeing the commercials.

TextNow is to consider if you are on vacation or do not want to sign a long and complex contract with a company. The service being free does not imply too much commitment and you just have to agree to see some notices to be able to access a good number of free benefits, without extra charges and quality. Even the payment options are quite beneficial for users if we take them into account.

The era of communication and information comes full of news like this very good app that we present to you today. Given so many offers of lines, services, content packages, cable and Wi-Fi, having an option as easy and free as TextNow is very valuable. The app is simple, agile and has a very intuitive interface.
