On the other hand, if you're super hardcore, getting metal and stars at 150 CC will be reduced, so you don't need to play at lower speeds if you don't want to.

Next, you need to find the right kart for you. When selecting a vehicle, you can press the More button to see its five statistics. Speed ??is overall top speed, acceleration is how fast you reach your top speed Weight is how much hitting other runners affects you, handling is how close you stay in a corner, traction is how well you drive outside road.

In addition to the kart statistics, the characters fall into one of the 7 weight classes that are not shown anywhere in the game. And they are :

Feather, Light, Medium, Cruiser, Heavy, Metal and Super Heavy. With feather weights, increased acceleration, less speed and less weight, and the super heavy weight with less acceleration, greater speed and greater weight.

Now that you have to choose a trip, it is important to master the various drive systems in the game. First from the start of the rocket. Before the race begins, look for the latitude countdown, as soon as you see the two falls, start accelerating to get a boost from the gate.

Coins: Each coin you collect will give you a really small speed boost and each one of up to ten will slightly increase their maximum speed. However, do not make an effort to collect coins, as there are tons of them distributed in each course.

There is no doubt that the Mario Kart app is one of the best alternatives to have fun on your mobile.
