The Stairway to heaven application is very simple to use, with a very easy interface, you can connect directly through your Facebook account and you will only have to follow the instructions that the game itself gives you to continue climbing the stairs.

Start as a child, as you add points from their mini-games and answer wisely the questions that they indicate, you will grow. Do not forget that you have to make good decisions to keep climbing, and although it seems simple, will you be able to take good actions? There are difficulties, heaven may have rules that do not conform to what you think.

The tests that are presented to you in Stairway to heaven are so realistic that they will make you really question your behavior and make you consider these situations in a totally different way than you did until now.

As you manage to reach the top, new characters will appear, with their different personalities, which you will have to help climb. Get unlocked and get everyone to reach the gates of heaven.

The characters that will appear to you at first will be a man and a woman, then you will be able to choose between other characteristics such as being a millionaire, famous, etc., to unlock them you will have to get keys that will accumulate in your account. Once you have chosen it, you will fall down an infinite white staircase that you will have to go up. At the top you will see a counter with the steps that you have left to reach the desired end. Every time you fall into a color step you will have to pass a test. The questions they ask you are adapted to the age you are at those moments of the game, for example at the beginning they will ask you questions about a baby's behavior and the answers are considered as good and bad according to what other users have voted before you, This makes it very subjective, but as a reward for achieving it, you will earn coins that will later help you with other characters.

For each correct answer in Stairway to heaven you will be given a series of steps that you can climb and so you will continue until you reach the next colored step. You also find some in which instead of questions you have to pass a test, such as looking at a bottle of milk, to guess what the exact amount is.

At the end of each section, a count will be made of all your progress, especially the levels of honesty and maturity that you have accumulated. In these first moments it is very easy to climb quickly in these two sections, the questions and challenges are very simple, things get complicated as you progress to more adult ages.

You will also find objects on some steps or even a pet that will accompany you on the path of your life, having the option of taking it or not. This decision will also influence the future of your protagonist, so think about what is best for him. It may be that even if you are doing everything right you find a step where there is a demon and it pushes you down the stairs, so be very careful where you put your foot, you still have to pay attention to the rest of the people who are climbing, you can stumble and fall anyway.

Stairway to heaven is a very fun game that at the same time makes you stop to think about the consequences of your actions. You may realize that all the actions and choices you make along the way can have consequences.
